What is a General Service Representative of Alcoholics Anonymous

A General Service Representative (GSR) of Alcoholics Anonymous is an elected member of a home group who serves as the link between the group and the broader AA community. GSRs are responsible for sharing their group's views and needs with other AA members, ensuring that the group's voice is heard at district, area, and conference levels. They play a crucial role in maintaining the unity and strength of the fellowship, helping to carry the message of recovery to alcoholics in need. GSRs are expected to be patient, tolerant, and wise in their interactions with others, and they must have the courage to speak up when they have something to share.
